SUBJECT: Request for 2023 Nominations
Honorary Degree & Distinguished Service Awards

The Honorary Degree and Distinguished Service Awards Committee of SIU Carbondale requests your nominations for awards to be given at the May 2023 commencements. Although nominations are accepted at any time each year, the current deadline for receiving nomination letters from any source to the Committee is Wednesday, October 19, 2022. The Committee will begin its deliberations immediately following this date and will make its recommendations for 2023 awards by October 26, 2022.

An Honorary Degree at SIU Carbondale is reserved for outstanding scholarly contributors and for persons of considerable renown in any field of activity. If given for other than scholarly contribution, the honorary degree should be awarded only to those persons who have uniquely contributed to human well-being or whose accomplishments have resulted in marked benefit to society.

The Distinguished Service Award is reserved for persons who have contributed significantly to southern Illinois, to the state, and /or the university. No university employee shall be considered for the service award in the year of his/her retirement. However, this does not preclude consideration of an exceptionally qualified employee for an award at the time either before or after the year of retirement.

To be considered, all letters of nomination must be accompanied by a 2-3 page resume, or curriculum vita, and/or a biographical sketch (e.g. an entry in Who's Who in America) of the candidate that includes a description of the unique contributions of the nominee. The Committee may request additional supportive materials, such as letters of recommendation and copies of representative publications or works, after the initial submission of a nomination. Authoritatively appropriate validation of a nominee's stature should be as broadly substantive and comprehensive as feasible.
